

There is so little choice in the media as of this date that no further consolidation of broadcasters in any area should be considered. We have too few systems deciding what we now see. The air ways are assets of the American People just as the Oil in Iraq belongs to the the people of Irag. They will get paid for their oil, but we will not be paid for our airways. The media companies need to pay us a royalty for the use of these assets, not the other way around.

George Gordon